

Leaf's wings are beautiful. They are a rainbow of colour with dark oranges and bright greens. Some of the leaves are huge like palm trees and dark green like seaweed and some of the leaves are small are the colour of green grass. Other leaves are fire coloured red and oranges like a sunset. In the wings there are some beautiful flowers with bright and colourful petals. The leaves rustle noisily in the strong, cold wind. As the polar bear moves the leafy wings crunch and you can smell the lush flowers on his back. The leaves are tied together using long, stretchy vines but the wings don't look very comfortable. Lots of the leaves are around the polar bear's face like a leafy crown. Behind the polar bear lost leaves fall slowly to the ground in a trail behind him.
